

Faye Dennis

Faye Dennis is a parishioner of Our Holy Redeemer, Surrey Hills. Having been involved in all levels of Catholic Primary School education for 45 years plus and now working with Pre Service Teachers at ACU, Faye hopes this experience can support the new Parish Pastoral Council (PPC).

Faye's hope for the PPC is that it listens intently to the needs of all parishioners and especially gives a voice to those who feel division in the faith community and to the parents of children at our three schools. Current practicing parishioners must also feel that their voice is heard. This active listening will mean that our faith community, rooted in a spirit of understanding, love and hope can work together with a strengthened purpose.

In accepting this invitation to join the PPC, Faye's dream is to bring the church to the people and help to make liturgies and sharing faith more available and meaningful to all in these changing times. Changes in our churches will bring challenges to us all but they can also lead to actions that can bring everyone together.
